STINGING WORDS
FROM CITY DADS

RIGHT OFF THE HOSE-REEL LAST EVENING.

DUSTED PROTRACTED CALM

Council's Critics Basted by Alderman Dullin—Treasurer and Janitor's Salaries Raised.

By the adoption, without a dissenting vote, of an amendment to the ordinance fixing the salaries of municipal officers which was passed at its previous meeting, the common council last evening put the shrunken $1,200 stipend of the city treasurer back on its old $1,400 footing and raised the janitor from $720 to $750. There were some other notable transactions and the session closed with a colorful little discussion of fire-hose that was distinctly reminiscent of "the good old days" when the dove of peace never roosted anywhere, but was kept skurrying through the thicket like a frightened non-partridge.

New Hose Did Not Burst
It appears that an impression had been conveyed by the Gazette's account of the fire last Friday that some and found it was up to weight. The next 150 feet was from the Blaternal Co. of Akron, Ohio. The next 300 feet was from the New Jersey Car Spring & Rubber Co., and it lay there for a number of weeks waiting for the committee. I finally took it upon myself to put the whole 750 feet on the steam fire engine and test it at high pressure. The committee did not come to witness the test. As we played through the hose my attention was called to the fact that some of it was giving out at the couplings. I was afraid that this would knock the cylinder heads out of the engine and had those lengths removed and replaced. Three hundred feet of it was letting go where fastened at the couplings. I took this hose and deflated it and upon examination found the fabric to be defective. Near one of the couplings I found a patch similar to those used on the inner tubes of bicycle tires. This was the hose that was brought to me at the fire, it was not safe to use it. It got a little wet, but is dry now, has been hauled, and the intention is to ship it back to the company tomorrow, as Aid. Evans ordered.

Question of "Deadly Enemies."
Aid. Kimball: "Inasmuch as I called you at the meeting to give us the benefit of your opinion on the hose matter, it seems to me you ought to have complied."

of the new hose which was bought a few months ago by the purchasing committee, burst and otherwise proved unserviceable. Alderman Dullin called Fire Chief Henry C. Klein before the meeting and instituted an inquiry on this point.

Aid. Dullin: "I would like to ask the Chief if any of the new hose burst at the batten mills fire."

Chief Klein: "That which was in use did not burst."

Aid. Dullin: "How do you account, then, for what the newspaper said?"

Chief Klein: "I had nothing to do with what the paper said. I did not tell anybody the new hose burst. I didn't put any hose into use that I thought would burst."

Aid. Dullin: "Did you make some such statement as 'Throw that new hose into the river?'"

Chief Klein: "I may have said something of the kind but not in just that way. I had sent the men after more lengths and I was impatient with them for bringing, by mistake, some of the new hose which could not be used for reasons I told to the members of the purchasing committee—it had been tested and found to be up to standard, but in a pile by itself."

Aid. Dullin: "Did you recommend that particular hose when it was bought?"

Chief Klein: "I don't think I did. Do you want me to tell what transpired at that meeting of the purchasing committee several months ago. If you and the Mayor do."

"I think you had better, inasmuch as the matter has gone as far as it has," interposed Aid. Evans.

Thought Hands Were Tied
In this connection Chief Klein said in substance: "In a report three months ago I requested that 750 feet of hose be purchased. The council passed an order directing some committee to buy 750 feet. The hose concerns sent their agents here to meet

Chief Klein: "Seven years ago I complied with a similar request in a similar situation and I made two deadly enemies."

Aid. Dullin: "It doesn't make any difference how many people you antagonized—it's your business to see to it that the right sort of equipment is secured for your department."

Chief Klein: "If all had wished my advice."

Aid. Evans: "I, personally, as chairman of the purchasing committee asked you to give me assistance in buying the hose. I'd like to know who the alderman was who went and asked you to favor a particular make."

Aid. Dullin: "I called on the Chief and mentioned the line sold by the man, Casper. I asked him to give the boy a chance but I said: 'If his hose is as good as the rest, I'm not beating behind any bushes.'"

There was much more discussion of couplings, the three-year guarantee, and other phases of a situation that has become extremely interesting because the city has already paid for the defective hose. Aid. Buchholz took issue with the Chief's statement that if, under the contract, the hose was once replaced and the substitute lengths failed to give satisfaction, there would be no redress, but the Chief insisted that hose men after hose men had told him that such was the code and custom. Then the discussion reverted to the Chief's refusal to advise the committee.

Aid. Sheridan: "It seems to me that if the invitation of one member was sufficient to secure his presence at the meeting, there was no reason why he should not have given his opinion when asked by one."

Aid. Dullin: "Since the purchasing committee was appointed last fall and it didn't get out—it doesn't suit him that this committee should buy every thing."

with the committee. Aid. Scott asked me if I wasn't going to the meeting. I said I didn't know as I was wanted but went at his suggestion. "There were about 30 samples of hose on the table and the various brands were discussed and terms and prices quoted. Some of the aldermen expressed a preference for certain makes. One of the aldermen had prior to that time sent word to me to favor the brand sold by a certain young man who used to live here, if I could. I had said that it made no difference to me what concern got the order so long as it delivered the right kind of goods. Aid. Kimball said: 'Chief, you pick out what is best.' I said that I had been glad to get rid of the job of making this selection because it always involved a great deal of criticism. Aid. Kimball was inclined to be provoked because I wouldn't make the selection. To help matters somewhat I did set apart some eight or nine samples of hose which I knew to be sold by reputable houses, but I said: 'Remember, I am recommending none of these.' If the committee had asked me in the first place I would gladly have made the selection, but some of the members had already shown a preference."

"The hose which the committee decided to buy came and was at the station a number of days. I asked that the committee come and look at it. We opened a 250 foot consignment from the Gutta-Percha Rubber Co.

After some more discussion of couplings that pulled away from the fabric, diameters, and threads, Chief Klein asked for permission to return to the personal equation and said:

"A few minutes ago Aid. Dullin did me a great injustice. I said I had my stinger out. I wish to say that nobody is better pleased than I am that the purchasing committee is attending to this matter. Every time I have been out every time a piece of hose has been bought here and sent in such a way that there was no comeback. I defy anybody to point a finger at me."

Aid. Dullin: "I am not trying to do anybody any injustice. I know and you know, yourself, that the former good feeling between the head of the fire department and the council no longer exists since this purchasing committee was appointed. I'm tired of all this criticism of the council. If it's not the fire department, it's the police, and if it's not the police, the pulp is taking us to task, as it did last week, for something somebody saw in a five-cent theatre. A policeman can't slap a Whitechucker without getting suspended for fifteen days—the police have no backing and it's all handed to this council. What I've got to say I'll say on this floor and if the shoe fits anybody, he can wear it."

FOR YOUR BREAKFAST
HAWAIIAN
PINEAPPLE

Cool a can of Hawaiian Pineapple, take a slice as it comes from the can and pour over it a little of the juice. The fruit is so tender, so exactly ripe that it cuts with a spoon, like a peach.

Or if you like a cereal in the morning, pour Crushed Hawaiian Pineapple over it, instead of cream.

Hawaiian Pineapples is a welcome change from the usual morning orange or grape fruit; besides it is good for you. An active aid to digestion, no other fruit is so healthful and refreshing as perfect pineapple—and Hawaiian Pineapple is perfect.

No pineapple can be perfect that is picked green and ripened off the plant. Hawaiian Pineapple is picked and canned on the day that the indigestible starch of the green fruit has been entirely converted into the wholesome, delicious sugar of the naturally ripened pineapple.

It is canned on the field so none of the natural flavor is lost. Nothing is added to the pure fruit, save a syrup of pure granulated sugar. No unkind hands touch it during the six minutes to peel, slice and send it in sanitary cans.

Ordinary pineapple is no more like Hawaiian than a raw turnip is like a Baldwin apple. So-called "fresh" pineapple that you slice at home, is picked green and ripened in vessel hold or freight car. Ordinary canned pineapple is tough, woolly, fibrous.

You will like Hawaiian Pineapple—and it will like you. Once you have eaten it at breakfast you will always keep a few cans in the house. Prices on case lots are very attractive. Two forms: Crushed and Grated.

Gas Explosion Shakes City.

Honolulu, Hl., Mar. 1.—Terrible explosion of gas in the well of municipal water works at Colfax destroyed the brick engine house and other property, and seriously injured Frank Peters of Decatur, the pumpman in charge. Peters had lowered a lantern into the well to see how much water was on hand, and the explosion followed. The concussion shook the entire city.

STRIKERS CALM; BUT FEW RIOTS

BUT TWO SLIGHT DISTURBANCES IN PHILADELPHIA CAR WAR.

CIVIC BODIES SEEK AN END

Officials, Ministers, Merchants and Newspapers Endeavoring to Prevent General Strike Scheduled for Saturday—Compromise Possible.

Philadelphia, Mar. 1.—The situation in the street car strike here is quiet and there is no more mental agitation than physical disturbance.

There were few riots—only a couple, in fact, which did not hurt any one very seriously, but there was a lot of thought and a lot of maneuvering on the part of various civic bodies who want the walkout of the electric crew men to come to an end before next Saturday, when, union labor threatens that 100,000 working people will quit their jobs and tie up the town.

Ministers pleaded in their regular meetings for a cessation of hostilities. Merchants who run the big department stores begged that some amicable solution of the differences between the trolley men and their employers be effected. Newspapers which previously have been more or less indifferent to the possible results of the strike begged in their editorials that peace be arrived at.

Both Sides Are Firm.

Yet the trolley men, who are seeking the restoration of their discharged employees and the company, which declines to recognize the union or put the onlookers back to work, say: "No peace, unless we win."

There has been no move made yet by Mayor Heyburn, Mr. Earle, or Mr. Carpenter, who were appointed at the meeting of "general strikers" to bring the question of an enforced arbitration to the attention of councils.

As a matter of fact the strike situation has neither progressed nor retrograded, and, meanwhile, according to figures put out by those most interested—the transit company and the department store owners—Philadelphia has lost more than $2,000,000 in the week just passed and stands to lose as much or more in the week to come.

Compromise Is Possible.

The general impression of the people of the city though is that some compromise will be reached before the big walkout of next Saturday.

Meanwhile Clarence O. Pratt, John J. Murphy and the other labor leaders who are running things on behalf of the striking car men and the unionists of various crafts who are going to strike next Saturday are jubilant. Big labor leaders are flocking in from various parts of the country to support Pratt in his leadership. W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, has arrived and looked over the situation. He said he could not see how he could improve Pratt's administration.

John Mitchell, head of the National Civic Federation and beloved in this state for the several winning fights he has conducted on behalf of the coal miners, will arrive during the day. He will offer his Pennsylvania experience to Pratt.

Two hundred union men, ultra enthusiastic over the call for a general strike next Saturday, could not restrain themselves and so they walked out of their shop in West Philadelphia. They declare they will not return until the car men win or lose their battle.

THEATRE

"A Gentleman From Mississippi," one of the brightest and breeziest plays of the season will have its second presentation in this city at the Myers theatre tonight.

There is a real plot to "A Gentleman From Mississippi"—a real story. An American story at that, told in the crisp, brisk, biting American style. William Langdon is sent to the United States senate by the people of his native state who love him for his bluff honesty and sincerity, and by the

the old man through the early days of "trust interests," who imagines that he is so ignorant of procedure that he can be bamboozled into anything they desire. He has lived in the backwoods all his life and is ignorant of the ways of politicians but he is a gentleman and has a keen sense for anything dishonest. When he gets to Washington he meets a newspaper correspondent—a bright young chap who knows it all, and then some. The senator is wise enough to see that this newspaper man can be of great use to him. He engages him as his private secretary and leans heavily upon him, trusting his young adviser to keep him out of the senate's sharp. The boy guides ing his time between the Herald Square and the Majestic theatres and it would be difficult to find a theatre-garer who does not know of the play. The authors and writers of "Three Twins" are all young men but they have made a high water mark for themselves with this effort. The success of their product will be lasting, an account of the sterling qualities of the music and story. Mr. Gaites has followed this up with a most elaborate production and the company which will appear here is most capable. Another novel effect is at the end of the first act, when a cannon laden with an exploding compound is seen crossing a river with the moon rising behind the clouds; this one number requires four electricians to operate the effects, but is a more episode of the entertainment, and it is almost an impossibility to judge the winner. Probably the most popular are "The Young Yama Man" and "Huddle Up a Little Closer."

STINGING WORDS FROM CITY DADS

NEWERS

The aldermen of the Third ward and the city engineer, comprising the special committee to whom was referred the report of the street assessment committee on the work done by Contractors Ryan & Finley on Milton avenue in accordance with their contract dated August 11, 1908, was in favor of the tentative agreement whereby the work should be accepted with the understanding that $50 of the stipulated contract price should be retained by the city to be used by the Second ward to resurface the street.

On recommendation of the committee on sewers the report was adopted and an order was passed directing the mayor and clerk to sign and deliver to the said contractors certificates of special assessment to the amount of $1,211.87, in full payment for all work in District 11.

he lined up for that sort of a rational improvement. "In that petition which was presented here," he said in conclusion, "we think we've had one slipped over us in a manner unworthy of neighbors." The council took no action regarding the matter.

FINANCE

The finance committee's reports on bills and the salary list were adopted and the clerk was directed to draw orders on the treasurer in the following amounts: $2 payable from the fire and water fund to Fred Yungst, George Silghian, John Schultz, Harry Green, Frank Burdick, Fred Corvill, Charles Cronin, and Glen Snyder, for services rendered at the Burns battle mills fire; $1 payable from the first ward fund to John Taylor for an apron at the corner of Racine and Chatham streets; and $38.27 payable to Albert Polzin for 47 coats.

Chief of Police George M. Appleby's report for the month of February showed that a total of 70 arrests had been made for the following offenses: 1; 2; 3; 4; 5; 6; 7; 8; 9; 10; 11; 12; 13; 14; 15; 16; 17; 18; 19; 20; 21; 22; 23; 24; 25; 26; 27; 28; 29; 30; 31; 32; 33; 34; 35; 36; 37; 38; 39; 40; 41; 42; 43; 44; 45; 46; 47; 48; 49; 50; 51; 52; 53; 54; 55; 56; 57; 58; 59; 60; 61; 62; 63; 64; 65; 66; 67; 68; 69; 70.

BALL PLAYER GRANTED PARDON.

Taylor, Former National Leaguer, Is Freed from Prison by President.

Atlanta, Ga., Mar. 1.—Thomas W. Taylor, once a great ball player in the National league, was called into the office of the warden at the federal penitentiary, where he has been serving a life sentence for the murder of his wife in Washington, and told that he had been granted a pardon by the president, acting on the petition of prominent ball players and the good report made of his work by the warden.

Robb Jeweler of $10,000.

Boston, Mar. 1.—A jewelry robbery, with the loss placed at $10,000, was reported to the police by Samuel E. Thiam. Thiam stated that when he entered the store he found some one had broken a rear cellar window, pushed up two planks in the floor and had robbed the safe.

RUMORED AMBASSADOR LEISHMAN WILL RESIGN

Evidence Is Gaining That He Is Persona Non Grata at Quirinal.

Rome, Mar. 1.—Because of the increasing evidence that Ambassador Leishman is persona non grata at the Quirinal owing to certain alleged complimentary remarks concerning Italy which have reached king Victor's ears, the rumor that he will resign his post is still persistent.

Leishman continues to live at a hotel, though many beautiful houses have been offered to him for rent. Those who have attended recent court functions say that the king treats the American ambassador with extreme coldness.

INSURANCE AGAINST STRIKES.

The serious disturbances attending the strike of car men in Philadelphia are in marked contrast to the peaceful methods of Germany. There manufacturers and other employers insure against strikes. Foreign journals state that during the last three years many strike insurance companies have sprung up in different parts of the fatherland, embracing practically all industries. In somewhat over a dozen of these societies are insured manufacturers employing 1,200,000 men. There are also more than a score of employers' unions that have a regular system of strike insurance, paying compensation at fixed rates, and nine other unions that pay compensation according to the merits of the case.

It is generally admitted that it is really in the interest of the employed as well as employers that industrial undertakings should be secured against unexpected losses from strikes as from other contingencies, and the fact that strike insurance companies do not pay compensation where the employers have been guilty of forcing a strike unjustly, prevents the institution from being abused. Indeed, the employer must establish the fact that he is not responsible for the strike or lockout.

Some societies pay compensation from the day of the outbreak of the strike; others from the day it is first formally reported to them; others only after it has lasted a week. The length of a strike is also taken into account. Some societies do not pay any compensation for a strike of less than four days' duration; others consider that a strike is no strike until it has lasted a fortnight. Operations carried on by the special strike insurance societies abroad are very large. Whatever their cost, strike insurance companies show that they are economical when compared with labor wars.

THE MEASURES.

It appears to be settled that of all the measures proposed by the administration for enactment in the present session of congress only four, or at most five, are to be put through both houses. These are the bills amending the interstate commerce law, providing for the regulation of issuance of injunctions, admitting Arizona and New Mexico, validating the withdrawals of public lands for conservation, and perhaps the bill establishing a postal savings bank system. It may be said that the reception of the Humphrey bill for the subvention of certain steamship lines emphasizes strangely but none the less positively the country's prejudice against subsidy under any name or any circumstances. The president, in giving his endorsement to the subvention idea, in advocating it on the platform as well as in his message to congress, has gone as far in the direction of propounding national aid toward the upbuilding of our merchant marine as any of his predecessors have gone in recent years; and in his effort to make the subsidy idea less distasteful, he has gone farther than most of them. It may be taken for granted now that he will not go as far again, and it is only reasonable to suppose that since this latest effort to restore the flag to the seas has met with widespread and even violent opposition the president will drop it from his program.

One regrettable feature of the matter is that the Humphrey bill is apparently to be withdrawn before its merits or its defects shall have been revealed, or exposed, by adequate debate. There is much to be said on all sides of the merchant marine question. It has not been discussed of late years, in fact, in a manner calculated to enlighten the public. It is worthy of intelligent and full discussion, but it will not get it. In all likelihood, until the subject forces itself upon the public at some later day, not too remote, and demands of congress less summary treatment.

Local politics are waking up. Last evening the council rescinded their former action in cutting down City Treasurer Fathens' salary and returned it to the old figure of fourteen hundred a year. Perhaps the handwriting on the wall was seen by some of the aspirants for office. Perhaps they had heard from their constituents in the wards.

Eight members of a New York milk exchange have been indicted for conspiring to fix the selling price of milk, which is deemed to be a misdemeanor. However, had they happened to fix the price low instead of high, perhaps no one would have taken the trouble to call the court's attention to it.

Mr. Halley's comet is soon to appear and the interested spectators are waiting to see what will be the latest style tall that it will bring it. The advance agent for this big show disappeared so quickly that but few really saw it at all, let alone note how it was pointed.

Lambillio March appeared today. May the old adage prove untrue just as the groundhog story has. Too much of a good thing is really worse than none at all. The country does not need any more snow and ice to assure good fertile fields. There is plenty on hand for all purposes.

Senator Aldrich thinks that as a businessman he could run this government for $500,000,000 a year less than it is costing now. It might be interesting to have him say why, as a politician or statesman, he could not administer affairs as economically.

Acting on Alexander Pope's statement that "the proper study of mankind is man," Knud Rasmussen will sail for Greenland in June to study the Eskimos for the next four years. No doubt he will know them "like a book" at the end of so much study.

Philadelphia will have to put down new sidewalks if this street-car fight keeps on, as they will be worn out by persons walking to and from work. Perhaps this is the reason that the general strike is to be called, so there will not be much walking.

Mr. Aquino, a majority behind him in Parliament, but he wishes it was not so small a majority by several votes. Still, he may begin doing something now he is certain of what may happen if he starts in right.

If married men are without sentiment, as some writers would have us believe, perhaps it is due to the cooling that Dr. Wiley talks about when he begins demonstrating what to eat and what not to.

America leads the world in tobacco which makes it easy to follow our smoke as it is to follow our flag to the North Pole and now in the rush to the South Pole.

One way for a girl to be sure of offers of marriage is for her to win a cement house and then advertise the fact.

SUES GUFFEY FOR $3,183,000.

Pennsylvania Magnate is Charged with Violation of Agreement.

Philadelphia, Mar. 1.—James M. Guffey, chairman of the state Democratic committee, all magnate and general promoter, was made the defendant in a suit filed by J. Montefiore Myers to recover $3,183,000 with interest from June 1, 1909.

The suit was filed in the court of common pleas No. 3 and it charges Col. Guffey with violation of an agreement to promote a company to take over large coal fields in Virginia. The plaintiff says he was to have had charge of the bonds of this corporation and that Col. Guffey's failure to keep his contract deprived Myers of large profits.

BOYS ATTEMPT WRECK A TRAIN.

Object Was to Rob Dead and Injured—They Are Foiled.

Greenwich, Conn., Mar. 1.—The arrest of five boys, ranging in age from 10 to 15 years, revealed the attempt of these youngsters to wreck the early New Haven railroad train from New York for the purpose, as they confessed, of looting the bodies of the dead and injured. They got so far as to opening the switch near the east Port Chester freight yard, having either found or stolen the keys. That their plan did not succeed was due to the circumstance that a switchman happened to see them throw the switch and closed it in time to avert an accident.

SHERIFF HAS WARRANTS FOR BEEF MEN ARREST

Governor Will Ask for Extradition of Indicted Packers Who Do Not Surrender.

New York, Mar. 1.—Warrants for the arrest of the 21 directors of the beef trust, indicted last week on a charge of criminal conspiracy, have been issued at Jersey City.

The warrants call for the immediate apprehension of the men whom the Hudson county grand jury believe are responsible for the high price on beef. Among them are millionaire members of the Swift, Armour and Morris families of Chicago.

The warrants were put in the hands of the sheriff for immediate service and will be forwarded by him to officers in the west, who will make arrests as rapidly as they can find the men wanted. The governor of New Jersey will ask for the extradition of the indicted men who will not come willingly to Jersey City and give bail.

Council for James E. Bathgate, Jr., general eastern manager for the National Packing Company, with headquarters at Newark, is the only one of the 21 packers indicted who lives in New Jersey. He appeared before Judges Cory and Blair and offered to give bail.

Bail was fixed at $2,500, this amount being considered sufficient in Bathgate's case as he has large property interests in New Jersey. Judge Blair announced that the amount of bail would be no criterion in the cases of the rich western packers who are under indictment.

There is sadness in the Arctic, there is waiting by the pole; all the natives have the heartache, they are badly in the hole; you may see the marks of anguish furrowed deep on every brow, as they wait and watch and languish, for they have no gun-drops now. TIRED OF LIFE, AGED MAN ENDS HIS EXISTENCE

HENRY SPOHN, AGED SEVENTY-FIVE, COMITS SUICIDE.

CHOOSES A WATERY GRAVE

Was Last Seen on Monterey Bridge About Eight O'clock—Coat, Cap and Knife Furnished Clue.

Despondent, with his faculties impaired by age and trouble, Henry Spohn, aged seventy-five, who settled in this city nearly forty years ago, sought oblivion in the icy waters of Rock river just below the Monterey bridge this morning about eight o'clock. No one saw him take the fatal leap, but his coat, cap and open knife, piled neatly on the bridge, bore mute testimony that he had arbitrarily closed up his life's account.

Received Word.
About half past nine, word was received at the police station that a coat, cap and knife had been found on the Monterey bridge. Patrolman Fanning was immediately sent to investigate and found the articles in the possession of Michael Lyons, gateman for the St. Paul railway, who stated that they had been given him by Mrs. Charles Hermann. She had found them on the bridge and thought that they belonged to Henry Spohn.

Left His Home.
Further investigation showed that the aged man had left the home of his son, James Spohn, 620 Chestnut street, at seven o'clock, with the intention of visiting another son, Thomas Spohn, residing on a farm just south of the city limits. He had evidently reached the bridge, allowed his troubles to master him while gazing at the rushing water, and then given way to the impulse to end everything.

Seen on Bridge.
Otto Burger, who resides on East-on avenue, and who knew Spohn well, stated that he had talked with him a few moments and after leaving, noticed that he had walked up and down the bridge in an agitated manner, looking constantly to see if anyone was observing him. At the time Burger thought nothing of the matter.

Search for Body.
A close scrutiny of the river near the bridge and the bulkhead at the mouth of the race, failed to disclose the body and arrangements were made with the officials of the Rock River Woolen Mills and the Electric Light company to lower the gates at noon and drain the race as it was practically certain that the current had carried the body into the raceway, for there is not enough water flowing over the dam to carry the body in that direction. Immediately after the race had been drained, boats were secured and the officers began dragging for the body.

His Family.
Spohn is survived by a wife, who is at present residing in Michigan, and three sons, James and Thomas of this city, and William of Cripple Creek, Colorado. He came to this city in 1870 and resided here continuously until about twelve years ago. At that time his first wife died, whereupon he disposed of his property in this city and moved to Allegan, Michigan, where he took a second wife.

Came Back Here.
Troubles followed and last fall he returned to Janesville where he has since resided with his two sons. Relatives had noticed that something was wrong with him but never thought for a moment that it would result as seriously as it did.

Found the Body.
Spohn's body, without a disfiguring mark, was found this afternoon about one o'clock without trouble. The race had been drained and the body lodged on the gravel near the footbridge leading to the Woolen Mills, where the swift current had carried it. The fact that the Woolen Mills and Electric Light Company very courteously cut off their power at the request of Chief Appleby made it easy for the police to recover the body, for had they declined to interrupt their work it would have been necessary to drag the race and the body might not have been recovered for some time.

WAS AFFLICTED BY A RELIGIOUS MANIA

Andrew J. Link Taken in Charge by Police Last Night While Violent.

Andrew J. Link, who with his wife and two small daughters resides just inside the city limits on the River road, and who for several years has been afflicted with a religious mania, suddenly became violent last night and drove his family from the house. He was taken in charge by the police and this morning Dr. Beckman and Cunningham, after an examination, recommended that he be taken to the Mendota Insane Asylum. Arrangements have been made to place him under restraint as soon as possible.

Baptist Church Property at Orfordville Sold to George Pankhurst for $1,750.

By the terms of a deed filed at the register's office today, the Wisconsin Baptist state convention transfers to George Pankhurst the property at Orfordville which was formerly used for church purposes. The consideration named is $1,750. Another instrument recites the fact that Sarah Walker, Minnie Grimm, Augusta Rummel, and Edna Finley of Beloit, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Woodcock of the town of Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Woodcock and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodcock of the town of Magnolia, out-calling to William Woodcock of Beloit Green county, for a consideration of $1,750 their interests in the W 1/4 of the SW 1/4 of Section 22, Town 3 North, Range 10 East, in the town of Magnolia, with the understanding that the party of the second part shall pay $1,750 mortgage outstanding against the property.

A File Can't "Touch" It

THE Ton-Don Axle is as hard as flint on the outside. A file slides over the spindle like it would over smooth glass. But the inside is soft, or natural, and will not bend or break under 6,000 pounds pressure.

The hardened outside is so thick that it will not wear through in twenty years' use. Yet the file-proof spindle and the box with its sleeve of Phosphor Bronze, which grows smoother and harder with use, show no perceptible wear after thousands of miles of running. They will never heat or cut.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

JOHN A. JOHNSON.

He was of the Lincoln type. Much has been written about the late Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota, but not too much, because—

Here was a man whose entire career as boy and man safely can be held up as a stimulus and an inspiration to American youth. His was not a mere money success.

Physically he was much like Lincoln—a face with a network of lines, put there early by the vicissitudes of hunger, deprivation and shame. Like Lincoln, he was tall—tall enough to be above the fogs of political life. And, like Lincoln, he was unguilely and walked with a sort of awkward shamble.

And there were in the story of the boy Johnson all the hardships and sorrows and surroundings of the young Lincoln.

Here was a boy whose father was the town drunkard. Deserted by the husband, his mother took in washings, and John went after these washings and delivered them in his little red wagon. At thirteen years of age he left school and went to work to help support the family.

In these few sentences is condensed a world of poverty and lack.

Nevertheless, at the age of fifteen he made the mother sell her washings, and at twenty-three he was the editor and half owner of a leading weekly newspaper.

Then this youthful editor, the son of Gustav and Caroline Johnson, Swedish immigrants, went steadily up in the esteem of the people. Hardship and privation, disfigurement and worry, had made of him an honest, sincere, manly man.

Nominated for governor, his opponent spread the story that his father had died in the poorhouse, which he did, a victim of alcoholic mania.

Like Lincoln when Douglas taunted him with his early obscurity, Johnson made no answer. But the full story came out, and it elected Johnson.

Becoming governor, he took up every question presented to him, carefully figured out what was the right thing to do and did it. He was careful, honest, firm.

That is why in a state strongly opposed to him he was twice re-elected. No man ever got nearer the hearts of the Minnesota people.

Young man, you can safely imitate the career of this honest man.

You can emulate the life of John A. Johnson and not go wrong very far. He was the Lincoln kind.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

WHAT is this Ballinger-Mitchell affair anyway? I heard one young man say to another the other day as he spread open a newspaper in whose headlines Mr. Ballinger and Mr. Mitchell were prominently mentioned.

"Oh, I don't know. Some kind of a fight about some lands somewhere," answered the second young man vaguely. "I haven't been following it at all."

Have you?

And did it ever occur to you that it was your duty to follow that and other things like it.

Sometimes I hear people—usually young women—say in tones of evident pride, "I almost never read the newspapers."

I do not think that is a thing to be at all proud of. I think that every man and woman in this land should read some things in the newspapers whether they read anything else or not.

And by "some things" I mean things like the Ballinger-Mitchell controversy.

I am afraid the two young men whose conversation I overheard are altogether too typical of the American newspaper reading public.

Present this public with a large and involved and more or less abstract question like the Ballinger-Mitchell controversy, and it looks, skips it for the description of the latest things in murders, or the interview with the latest novelty in defuncts, doesn't "try to follow it."

By and by this abstract question gets unpleasantly translated into terms of everyday life—the price of timber goes up or the government fostered monopoly brings on a tremendous coal strike, and the public reads all about these concrete things avidly.

If it would only do its reading in the first instance it might not have to in the latter.

How many people cared to read and digest much of the tariff discussions? When the information about the tariff is offered in tabular form, in columns or in headlines, so that he who runs may read, they may give it a little attention, but when it is presented in long paragraphs, unbroken by conversation, most of them promptly skip it.

But later, when the tariff begins to get in its work and prices go up and there is a meat boycott, then the shoe begins to pinch, and the public begins to read every word about this concrete result of the abstraction which it ignored so blithely a few months ago.

"An ounce of prevention," etc., as maybe you've heard before, and likewise an ounce of interest in the tariff would have been worth a pound of protest against higher prices; an ounce of interest in the Ballinger-Mitchell controversy will be worth a pound of protest at shortage of coal or wood ten years from now.

Are you glad or sorry that you live in a democratic country, where public opinion, whatever some people say, is a great power?

If you are glad, suppose you show it by reading in the newspapers the chronicles of the important things of the day such as the Ballinger-Mitchell controversy, and making your part of the public opinion a valuable one.

And if you are sorry, suppose you find a better country.

THE AGE OF MOTHERS.

By MARY RUSSELL.

It is wise and kind to bring girls up to womanhood with the highest ideals of love and marriage. The care of the home and the management of children should be taught them as thoroughly as any of the lessons in the curriculum. Surely there is no greater lesson to this one of how to be a good wife and mother, but be learned than a good wife and a good mother is not all that is needed to make a happy home. In the ages to come, plan has been in good running order for a few centuries, the antiquarian who digs into the literature of the present day will shake his head wisely and say:

"For strange was this age of mothers in which a woman was all that made a home. The men of this day seem to have had only the duties of running trusts and combines. And there seems to have been a strong desire on their part to put all the duties of the home on the women, for they were always directing them what to do to be good mothers and make homes pleasant. Strangely enough, the women were glad and apparently happy, to have things this way. They were rather haughty about their prerogatives and did not care to share the home duties with what they called a 'mere man.' Now in our enlightened age, we think that a man may be the wage earner, or, perchance, if the woman have the greater ability, she may be the money-maker. But, when it comes to the home, it is the man and the woman who make that. The children are the care and happiness of both parents. Father is just as tender and dear a name as mother. Our children have just as high ideals of the character of the man whose name they bear, as they have of that of the other who bore them. A child of this day and generation feels as free to confide in its father as in its mother. Love and close companionship is the cord which binds the family in one great and indistinguishable bond. The family is a word so big and so sacred that we do not speak it lightly. It does not mean just a mother and her children, with a father in the background doing out dollars with a more or less grudging hand. It means a place of joy and happiness and comfort and peace for father and mother and children. We have learned a great deal more than 'the age of mothers' ever dreamed of knowing."

That is like a dream, isn't it? And it will always be a dream if we do not get at it, and teach our children that it takes at least two to make a home.

imitators on Every Hand.
Though a nation famous for invention to a great extent, we are imitators. The pioneer of a new path finds himself crowded off, so many rush to follow in his footsteps. The scramble to cultivate new fields becomes so great that the soil is soon exhausted. Markets become glutted and stagnation results. One man makes a happy hit, thousands imitate him, there is a stampede and then failure. Inventions are imitated, names are copied.

MONROE PASTOR TO BEGIN LECTURE TOUR

Rev. J. H. Berkey Has Given Up Pastorate and Will Give Temperance Lectures.

(Special to this paper.)

Monroe, Wis., March 1.—(Rev. J. H. Berkey delivered his last sermon at the Union Church in Christ yesterday morning, and from now on will fill on assignment for temperance and gospel meetings until April 25, when he leaves on a lecture tour of twenty weeks with the Lincoln Temperance Chautauque system. Mr. Berkey has served as pastor of the church for ten years. He first served a term of two years and then removed to Missouri. Upon his return he organized the Baptists and Disciples into what is now known as the "Union Church in Christ". He gave a brief review of the revival meeting that came through the church and strengthened his membership. He urged the continued cooperation of the church and the work of Christ in the world. He concluded by thanking the members of the congregation for their loyalty and spoke of the many things which they had accomplished by their united efforts.
